PATRIOTISM and PRODUCTION

Complete Your Pans Now

The important thing now is to complete at once your plan for the year's work—for increased production. By planning well in advance, each month's operations can be carried through more effectively when the time comes. Delays later on, through neglect of this, will mean loss to you and to the Empire.

Use the Best Seed

This year, for the sake of the Empire, farmers should be exceptionally careful in the selection of seed. Cheap seed is often the danger. If every Canadian farmer would use only the best varieties, and sow on properly cultivated soil, the grain output of Canadian farms would be doubled. Deal only with reliable seedsmen. Write at once to Canadian Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, and to your Provincial Agricultural Department for information as to the best varieties of seed to be used in your particular locality, and use no others.

The Farm Labour Problem

The Government suggests the forming of an active committee in every town and city, composed of town and country men and women. This committee would find out the sort of help the farmers of their locality need, and get a list of the unemployed in their town or city, who are suitable for farm labour. With this information, the committee would be in a good position to get the right man for the right place.

Councils, both rural and urban, Boards of Trade and other organizations could advantageously finance such work. Every unemployed man in the town or city who is placed on the farm becomes immediately a producer, instead of a mere consumer and a civic expense.

ATTEND YOUR CONFERENCE

Test your seed for vitality. Seed is not always as good as it looks. For example, it is quite normal in appearance, and weight, may be so badly damaged by frost that its value for seed is completely destroyed. If you have any doubts as to the quality of your seed a sample may be sent free to the seed laboratory at Ottawa, for analysis. For test, but most cases this simple test will prove sufficient.

Clean Your Seed

All grain intended for seed should be thoroughly cleaned and selected to retain only the strong kernels. You can reap only what you sow. It does not pay to sow weeds. Clean seed means larger crops and helps to keep the land clean. When you have your seed grain ready, put it through the cleaner once more.

Increase Your Live Stock

Breeding stock are today Canada's most valuable asset. The one outstanding feature of the world's farming is that there will soon be a great shortage of meat supplies. Save your breeding stock. Plan to increase your live stock. Europe and the United States as well as Canada will pay higher prices for beef, mutton and bacon in the very near future. Do not sacrifice now. Remember that live stock is the only basis for prosperous agriculture. You are farming not speculating.

Is The "Loss of Revenue" Argument Worth Considering?

EXPRESSIONS OF OPINION OF LAW MAKERS

CONGRESSMAN KINDEL, OF COLORADO.

In answer to the soulless argument against prohibition on account of loss of revenue to the cities, states, and Nation, it should not and cannot be considered for a moment by any self-respecting citizen, be he rich or poor, white or black. Even granting this debatable argument to be true, he indeed deserves my pity who lives for revenue only. None but a coward would sacrifice priceless manhood and womanhood to insatiable greed and self-aggrandizement.

CONGRESSMAN LINDBERGH, OF MINNESOTA.

It is also foolish to claim that the liquor traffic should be supported to furnish revenue to the government and to villages and cities collecting for licenses. In the first place the evil effects resulting from the business in themselves create more expenses than all the revenue and license collections amount to. And, furthermore, as to the revenue for the collections made for village and city licenses we know that the dealers must pay for their stock and the costs of running the saloons, so that as a profit in addition. Since what they sell serves no actual need of the buyers, here again is a waste, and the funds for revenue only. None but a coward would sacrifice priceless manhood and womanhood to insatiable greed and self-aggrandizement.

Capital and labor are much the same wherever we find them. Their problems are the same problems. I live in a small city, where we have a few factories, and we have this advantage, that we can study the problem at close range. And some of these factory managers tell me that when we had the saloons, the day after pay day, in many cases, their men were incapacitated for their work and unfit for their duties, and for the last four years since we have abolished the saloons, the day after pay day finds every man at his work, sober, and at his best. So from a business standpoint alone we should promote more and industry will thrive more successfully, if we remove this clog in the wheels of business.

What is true in our city in this respect is undoubtedly true everywhere where the saloons have a chance at the pay envelope of the wage earner. Without the saloons the pay envelope into its own hands, the legitimate channels of business, so that the groceryman, the merchant, and the banker alike are benefited by the abolishment of the saloons. If you must know and must have this problem figured in dollars and cents, there are many who have gathered the statistics. They can tell you the exact amount of money spent for liquor and the amount of money appropriated for the care of the unfortunate, the criminals, the insane and the dependent. And the by-products of this monstrous liquor business. There is a big balance against that traffic in plain dollars and cents, when you figure the depreciation of manhood.

DOES PROHIBITION PAY?

Few persons realize the wonderful record that Kansas shows at the end of her thirty years' prohibition of the sale of alcoholic liquors. "The Outlook" recently showed that—

In 87 of her 105 counties Kansas has now no inns.

In 54 of these counties there are had over before done, and that most of the people who had been delinquent came in and paid their debts. Let me suggest to my anxious friends who fear for their capital invested in the liquor and brewery interests, and to those who foresee a future employment for themselves in the adoption of the Hobson resolution and its incorporation as an amendment into the Constitution of our country, that they look carefully over the opportunities afforded by our state for the investment of capital and the employment of labor. To all who fear a loss of occupation by reason of the righteous increase of sentiment in favor of prohibitory enactments, I say come to northern Minnesota, see your swelling muscles in subduing a portion of the wilderness and enjoy the rewards of a well-earned life in the old age of comfort that may easily be derived from a well-tilled farm.

CONGRESSMAN LINDQUIST, OF MICHIGAN.

If this government has the right to put out of business the great business monopolies, it certainly has the right to put the liquor monopoly out of business. We have destroyed great business trusts—those industries which have carried on business at the expense of other industries, and for no other reason than that they have ruined the smaller industries of our land. Then have we not the right and it is our duty, to destroy the great liquor trust, that is daily bringing ruin to other industries? For this business cannot survive without injury to all other legitimate industries.

Not long ago Kansas had $2,000,000 in her banks, her farmers owned livestock valued at $325,000,000, and in one year the people have added $5,000,000 to their taxable property. Only two per cent. of the entire population is illiterate. The mortality rate has dropped from 17 per 1,000 to 7 per 1,000.

OPINIONS OF GREAT MEN.

"I do not believe that alcohol is any more evil than ever will do anybody any good."—Lord Chas. Bessborough.

"Our men enjoyed splendid health in the Southern Expeditionary Campaign (1881-1882), and this is due to the fact that, from the time they entered until they left, they were not supplied with spirits."—Field Marshal Lord Wolseley.

"The campaign in Egypt was a tactical campaign. We drank Nile water and nothing else. There will not be a circle of so many miles circumference with Sylvan Lake for the hub and nine railroads radiating from it. We actually only one. We will show you a terminal for one train in and out for the week and excursion. We were also very well pleased to learn that we were to have stock yards and a loading platform put in here this week. We will make Sylvan Lake a shipping point second to none."

The Village Council has had the good luck of selling their debentured stock of eighty-seven cents on the dollar, a transaction that, we think pretty good considering times and conditions. They sold their debentured stock at a profit of 10 per cent. We were also very well pleased to learn that we were to have stock yards and a loading platform put in here this week. We will make Sylvan Lake a shipping point second to none."

USE CANADIAN COAL

Something like three thousand miners in the south country are crying out for help to the government as they are in want owing to closing down of coal mines. A strong movement is on foot to ask that a duty be put on coal coming from the United States, as fifty per cent. of the coal consumed in Alberta is brought in from the other side of the line, at the present time. If a duty was put on, Canadian mines would resume work, and men who are now crying out for assistance would be able to make good wages and to support their families in comfort, besides keeping all the money in our own country.

DEVELOPMENT OF

SYLVAN LAKE.

It is time the Board of Trade and other citizens of Red Deer began to organize for a strong campaign for the season of 1915 with regard to the development of Sylvan Lake and the other sections of the western country. The C.P.R. company officials are willing and anxious to do all in their power to further the interests of Red Deer in this matter, and no stone should be left unturned to help on the good work. Already there is talk of a summer schedule on the A.C.R. which will allow of more time in Red Deer, and also week end excursions, which will give our citizens a better opportunity of enjoying the pleasant outing Sylvan Lake affords. We think Superintendent McGregor should be interviewed and requests for such accommodation made as will be in the best interests of our city and the C.P.R.

PRESIDENT WILSON TALKS BUSINESS.

President Wilson, of the United States, in reply to the "war zone" proclamation from Berlin, said in part:

"The Government of the United States would be constrained to hold the Imperial German Government to a strict accountability for each act of their naval authorities, and to take any steps it might be necessary to take to safeguard American lives and property and to secure to American citizens the full enjoyment of their acknowledged rights on the high seas."

The New York World regards the language of this passage as almost that of an ultimatum. It should be noted that Mr. Wilson includes "lives" as well as "ships." This means that if American passengers on a British ship come to their death through the attack of a German submarine, the United States would demand immediate reparation from the Berlin Government even if it did not declare war upon Germany.

GENERAL SAM HUGHES AS A SCHOOLMASTER

Some Interesting Reminiscences of a Man Much in the Public Eye—Insisted Upon Discipline

"His brother, Mr. J. L. Hughes, has let the public enjoy an autobiography," said a well known trust company manager, "but some reminiscences from Major-General Sam Hughes himself would make good reading, too. He was one of the best teachers Jarvis Street Collegiate, Toronto, ever had, and before he exchanged the classroom for the Warter sanctum, at Lindsay, in 1885, 50 per cent. of the men of my own age in similar positions in Toronto passed through his hands. Sam Hughes was undoubtedly a great disciplinarian."

"I often wonder what kind of predictions he used to make to himself about his different pupils, as he sat at his desk, seeing them over at their lessons, his stern jaws usually going. Sam had a curious habit of nibbling a bit of blackboard chalk in the school-room. The good, old-fashioned custom of caning had not gone out then, and we boys certainly dreaded one from the muscular Sam, whose good right arm was always in shape for playing lacrosse. 'I will not cane today,' he would generally inform the class concerning some offending student. 'I might give him more than he deserves. I do not wish to punish anybody in anger.' That sort of thing tended to impress the class as well as the individual delinquent, and was salutary. Sometimes Sam Hughes' temper would get the better of him. One day a boy was caught sticking a pin playfully into the back of the boy who sat in front of him. Now the joker's father had been a drawing-master in the schools, and probably he thought he ought to be allowed latitude. When he saw the class protesting from the desk he made a bolt from the room and into the school yard, with Sam after him. The boy was a school sprinter, but the lacrosse expert was in better training, and the pair—Sam in the rear—went up and down that yard fully a dozen times. Eventually the pupil was lagged, beaten, into the classroom, and after the teacher had exhibited to the grinning class a certain pin of his own that he had been using on the culprit, out in the yard, the latter was induced to stand up and take his medicine. The class and the point of the joke. That and many such incidents, too, were salutary. No matter who the lad was, if he deserved a 'licking' he had to take it."

COURAGE WILL COME IF IT IS CULTIVATED

So Says General Baden-Powell in Discussing the Four Big C's of a Good Soldier Should Possess

Courage, common sense, cunning, and cheerfulness. The cultivation of these four attributes is, in the opinion of Sir Robert Baden-Powell, quite as important as drill in the making of a modern soldier. The question naturally arises can courage be cultivated? In the opinion of Sir Robert it can, and without it a soldier is practically useless in the field. He tells a story to illustrate his point of General Nogi, the great Japanese leader, who displayed in his life and in his death the highest personal courage. General Nogi once said that, though timid by nature, he had developed his quality by stern self-discipline. When he found a job which caused him apprehension or fear, he forced himself to face it, and to repeat it again and again until it no longer had any terrors for him. "It is that taking oneself army in hand," says Sir Robert in his book, "Quick Training for War." "That enables a man to stick it out against the impulse of his knees to give in or to run away in a crisis."

Courage is a rn of confidence, and no matter how timid a soldier may be at first, if he knows that he can handle a rifle and sword well, manage a horse has some good officers, and is healthy enough to march with the best, he can very soon cultivate it. In regard to the second of the C's—common sense—Sir Robert points out that, although the science of strategy and tactics looks formidable in the textbooks, these really only lay down definite principles and examples which serve to guide the leaders when applying their common sense to the situation in hand. "No two situations," he says, "are ever precisely the same, and it is therefore impossible to lay down exact rules that should guide in every case." They have an effective way of teaching common sense among the South African police. As a rule, the police patrols go about the districts in pairs. When, however, a man is not sufficiently intelligent or self-reliant, he is sent alone on long journeys in order to cultivate and develop his common sense and self-reliance. "De-velop," says Sir Robert, "the intelligence of the individual, and the whole unit will be efficient."

One of the secrets of Napoleon's success was his abnormal cunning, which enabled him to formulate plans of his own for countering those of the enemy which were reported to him by his intelligence officers. For quick training in cunning the best school is that of scouting. "The first steps," says Sir Robert, "in making a good scout are to teach him observation and deduction, noticing every detail about the enemy and deducing a meaning from the points observed. Then, by a little imagination, the enemy's movements or intentions are read and countering steps can be taken with every advantage."

The Boers, during the South African War, were many a time through their cunning. Like the Germans in the present war, who have scored in the vital manner of concealing their artillery, they were clever in hiding their field guns, when they were able to shell the British troops for a considerable time before the latter could locate the position of the Boer's artillery, sufficiently well to reply to it effectively.

"The Hero of Mafeking" lays great stress on the value of cheerfulness. "The spirit," he says, "which possesses the men is a tremendous factor for success in war, and the presence of a few infallibly cheerful men in the ranks, and more especially among the leaders, is of a value that cannot be over-estimated. In an arduous campaign or when things are going against you. . . I have known of more than one officer who was accepted for service, not so much on account of his military ability, as for his undampable spirits, which invariably develop a brighter feeling among those around him."

THE SUBMARINE'S EYE

Periscope Has Been Greatly Improved Since First Reflecting Prism

The submarine's two great assets in warfare are her invisibility and the possession of these terrible organs of destruction—torpedoes. Yet her invisibility to others would be useless if she herself could not see, and this facility is made practicable by the periscope.

Immense strides have been made in the improvement of this medium of sight. The first one was a short tube capped by a reflecting prism, which threw horizontal rays downwards through the tube on to a false horizon. This focus was opposite an eye-piece, on which an observer was obliged to keep his eye concentrated.

On the telescopic principle, the periscope's length was increased, and then the introduction of the well known camera-obscura idea enabled a picture of the sea's surface to be reflected on a piece of paper laid flat near the steering wheel.

The King's Wheel of Honor

It is characteristic of the keen interest that King George takes in the men who are fighting for Britain that he ordered a record to be kept at Buckingham Palace of the names of all those serving in any capacity who are killed during the war. When the proper time arrives it is His Majesty's intention to place a suitable tablet to their memory, either in the private chapel at his London residence or in the Chapel Royal, St. James.

When the sad list is completed, it will be handsomely bound and placed in the royal archives at Windsor Castle, close to where a similar list of the African War is kept.

HOW NAMES ORIGINATE

It was James L., who had a pretty wit of his own that named the part of the beef "above the loin," sirloin. In his day that particular cut was called by its French name surloin or "over the loin." But the English monarch was so pleased with a dish of meat served him one day after a hunt that placing his sword across the platter as if he were to dub a knight, he exclaimed not surloin, but "Sir Loin" and from that day the juicy steak bears the noble name of knighthood conferred upon it by a king.

The strawberry plant never would stay at home round the parent stock, so like other wanderers it lost its good name.

Whatever name the little red berry had in the beginning no one seems to remember, but because the vine was always straying from the main plant it was called "stray-berry." After awhile even that name was lost by mispronunciation, and the luscious berry that bears no resemblance at all to straw is now called strawberry. The "Tune the Old Cow Died On" was not ragtime. History throws very little light on the career of this unhappy obdurate, but it does relate that when she had nothing to eat the farmer tried to make her forget her troubles by playing a tune on his fiddle. The tune was too much for her. She gave up the ghost and died. It was a bishop of olden times who first "put his foot in it," and even since then the most ordinary layman who makes a blunder is said to "put his foot in it."

It wasn't the bishop's fault after all, but the housewives who ran to doors and windows every time the good bishop passed and asked for his blessing—and while getting it let the porridge burn. Then they blamed the bishop for the trouble and said "the bishop put his foot in it."

The Savage's Brain

The savage found champion in Mr. W. McDougall, who lectured on
"The Mind of Savage Man" at the Royal Institution, London.Fifteen years ago, he said, he was one of a party of scientists who journeyed to Torres Strait, and in carrying out their investigations they discovered that the head measurement, or cranial capacity, of the natives was just about the same as that of the average Oxford undergraduate.Mr. McDougall dealt chiefly with his experiences of a savage tribe in the interior of Borneo, who live in houses a hundred yards long, raised on twenty-foot poles, with chambers for each family and a long corridor for the communal life of the joint tenants.

Individuals do Not Count

Units, individuals cannot count in this war, for remember we are writing a new page of history and an extract from the letter of a young British officer, since killed at the front.Future generations cannot be allowed to read the decline of the British Empire and attribute it to us! We live our little lives and die. To some has given the chance of proving themselves men, and to others no chance comes! Whatever our individual faults, virtues or qualities may be it matters not, but when we are up against big things, let us forget individuals, and let us act as one great British unit—united and fearless!
Some will live and many will die, but count the loss naught! It is better far to go out with honor than to survive with shame!Bombardment Opened on Friday; Renewed To-dayOFFICIAL REPORT STATES CON-SIDERABLE EFFECT ATTENDING
THE SHELLINGLondon, February 20.—(3.20 p.m.)
—The British and French fleets, it was officially announced here today,
bombarded the forts of the Dardanelles on Friday with considerable effect. The bombardment of the Dardanelles was renewed, the announcement added, with seaplane and aeroplanes co-operating.The text of the official announcement issued Saturday afternoon by the British admiralty says:"Yesterday morning at 5 o'clock a fleet of British battleships and cruisers, accompanied by flotillas, and aided by a strong French squadron, the whole under the command of Vice Admiral Sackville H. Carden, began an attack on the forts at the entrance to the Dardanelles.

PORTS OUTRANGED.

"The forts at Cape Helles and Kusksale were bombarded with a deliberate long range fire. Considerable effect was produced on two of the forts. Two others were frequently hit, but being open earthworks it was difficult to estimate the damage.
The forts, being outranged, were unable to reply to our fire."At 2.45 o'clock in the afternoon a portion of the battleship force was ordered to close in and engage the forts at closer range with their secondary armament."The forts on both sides of the entrance then opened fire and were engaged at moderate ranges by the Vengeance, Cornwallis, Triumph, Sulfren and Bouvet, supported by the inflexible and the Agamemnon at long range.

ON EUROPEAN SIDE.

"The forts on the European side were apparently silenced. One fort on the Asiatic side was still firing when the operations were suspended on the trip by rail and boat to the Old Country, and if they could not stand that journey they were of no use. A much better idea of the situation was shown during the afternoon, but a big majority of them were not the type of horse wanted, and were turned down for various reasons. Horses with white markings were tabooed altogether. The prices paid ranged round $125 to $130.

ON ASIATIC SIDE.

Athens, via London, Feb. 20.— (4.35 p.m.)—It is reported here that the Anglo-French fleet destroyed the Turkish forts on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles during the bombardment this morning. The forts on the European side subsequently were attacked and are still firing."A powder magazine on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles exploded during the bombardment by the allied fleets. The forts replied in a lively manner to the fire of the warships but without success.

TOO MANY DAIRY BREEDS

Each Community or District Would Gain by Breeding Uniform TypeIn this day of organization, one of the first things that farmers' clubs should take up is the breeding of better dairy cattle, and at the same time effort should be made to have a uniform breed of dairy cattle. A community should decide upon one breed and whatever, breed the majority selects the rest should use. The aim should be to select a breed best adapted to the natural conditions of the section. Personal likes and dislikes are not half so important as some people think. A farmer will like best what pays him best as a general rule, and the advantages of one breed pay better than fancy of some particular color or shape.Where there are numerous breeds there will be cross-breeding and cross-breeding leads to nowhere. Where sires of different breeds are bought into the same community, exchange of sires cannot be made, and very often we find pure-bred dairy sires sold to the butcher just when they are at their best.

Graphic Story of Canadian Troops' Trip to France

PLANS FOR THE DEPARTURE OF TROOPS VEILED IN DEEPEST SECRECY.

Winnipeg, February 18.—F. A. McKenzie, the London correspondent of the Free Press, cabling from an unnamed point in France, gives a graphic description of the passing through of the first Canadian contingent en route to the front. Says the correspondent:

"Many varying dates were given concerning the contingent's departure, each apparently authoritative. In January it became clear that the real advance was beginning. The first section of the transport corps moved from Salisbury at midnight Thursday, followed by others at midnight Friday. The mechanical transport section embarked—making for— it was not until February—that the first part of the mechanical transport travelled up from— landing there."

VEIL OF SILENCE. "Meanwhile a complete veil of silence was thrown over the proceedings on the plain. The British press was permitted to publish nothing concerning the general exodus which started on Sunday, February— Some regiments disappeared with—out a word."

"We started for the route of march but never returned," said one officer. First the brigades took ship Sunday evening, the first convoy of four boats starting that night, the others following the next day. The first part of the contingent, which left on Sunday at midnight, never saw lands until Wednesday night, when the ships approached a little port on the west coast of France.

"The voyage was stormy and rough; disagreeable fogs and rain clouds made even the guard of the British warships invisible part of the time."

LAY OUTSIDE PORT. "The contingent lay outside the port on Wednesday night and late Thursday morning. Here a fresh surprise met the men, where great stocks for the trenches of clothing were waiting them."

The men were served with the utmost rapidity with fur gloves, from Grand Duke Michael's hand of shaggy wolfskin coats, trench socks and mittens and their brigade equipment of guns and carts.

Col. L. W. Herchmer, Well Known Here, Dies at Vancouver

FORMER COMMISSIONER OF THE R.N.W.M.P. PASSES AWAY AT COAST

Vancouver, B.C., February 18.—Death came rather suddenly yesterday to one of the early pioneers of the Northwest in the person of Col. Lawrence William Herchmer, who was also a link between the early days of Canada and such statesmen as Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir Richard Cartwright.

The deceased was late commissioner of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police from 1886 to 1900, taking hold of the force at a time when such a body was most needed to keep law and order on the prairies. He was a typical "rider of the plains," and brought the force to a state of efficiency. His name is a household name throughout the prairies, and his hosts of friends in Calgary and Regina and the rest of the northwest, will learn with regret of his passing.

WAS 74 YEARS OF AGE.

Deceased, who was 74 years of age, passed away yesterday at the residence of his sister-in-law, Mrs. C. R. Townley, Burrard and Hastings streets, where he has been residing during the winter months preparatory to leaving for his summer residence on Savory island. He was the son of the Rev. William MacAuley Herchmer, M.A. (Queen's College, Oxford), of Kingston, Ont., being born in England during a visit of the family there. He came of United Empire loyalist stock, and the family has been prominent in the public affairs of Canada during the last two or three generations.

Socialists To Fight Till Militarism is Destroyed

But Allied Socialists Will Resist Any Attempt to Transfer This Into War of Conquest

London, February 14.—Representative Socialists of the allied countries met in London today under the presidency of James Keir Hardie, Socialist member of parliament for Morley, to discuss the international situation. The subject of peace was not discussed, as the delegates had decided that "no hope for peace could be entertained until German militarism was crushed. Resolutions passed demanding that Belgium shall be liberated and compensated, that the question of Poland shall be settled in accordance with the wishes of the Polish people, "either in the sense of autonomy in the midst of another state or in that of complete independence and that throughout, from Alsace-Lorraine to the Balkans, those populations that have been annexed by force shall receive the right freely to dispose of themselves."

The resolutions also declared that while the allied Socialists had resolved to fight until victory was achieved, they had resolved "To resist any attempt to transfer this defensive war into a war of conquest."

Neutrals to Have No Rights Within Blockaded Zone

London, February 18.—The Copenhagen correspondent of the London Daily News wires: "From Hamburg it is learned that the German submarines which are to engage in the blockade of the English coast have received detailed instructions how to act. These instructions state that the blockade of British ports gives the submarines the right to regard all merchantmen found within the blockaded area for the purpose of conveying anything to Britain as enemy ships engaged in illegal operations. The submarines are to approach the merchantmen, if possible, without being seen and torpedo them immediately without the slightest examination regarding their nationality or in any way concerning themselves as to the fate of the crew. "Neutral vessels which break a blockade have no rights at all according to international law, and it is understood the desire is that the crews of the torpedoed ships shall perish, so there may be left no evidence regarding the fate of the ships. The German authorities believe that the disappearance of all hands of many merchantmen will produce a most terrifying effect. "It is reported the Kaiser will arrive at Wilhelmshaven tomorrow. The general belief is that he is going to Heligoland to direct the blockade personally. In a few weeks, the rumor adds, he may even go farther than Heligoland."

Assessor A. T. Stephenson, will have all the assessment notices of the city out by the end of the month. This is the earliest, by several months, that this work has been done, and it has required some very energetic hustling to accomplish it.

Poplar Ridge

A very successful entertainment, box social and dance was held at the Poplar Ridge school, last week, in aid of the patriotic fund, under the able chairmanship of Frank Dallaire of Burnt Lake. Among those who assisted in the programme were Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, Burnt Lake, the Misses Archibald, and other local talent. The proceeds amounted to $16.00, which will be Poplar Ridge's first instalment towards the Canadian Patriotic Fund.

Clearview

The Clearview-Springvale Ladies' Institute intend holding a social in Clearview school house on the fifth of March. A dance will take place, and the ladies have arranged for a short musical programme. Everyone will join in the contests and games, and lunch will be provided for all. Admission, twenty-five and fifteen cents, and everyone is invited. Proceeds to go to the Belgian Relief fund.

We are glad to hear Miss Gladys Trimble has recovered from a short but severe illness.

Raven Rippings

Some hoodlums have broken into a house belonging to Mr. Walter Earl, who has a homestead south-east of Raven P.O., and have taken everything movable, even to windows and doors. Mr. Earl is away serving his country in the war, and left all his goods just as they were when he was living there, even his clothes, and some valuable pictures on the walls, but everything is gone. The R.N.W.M.P. were up on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday last looking for the rippers. We hope that they will be caught, as it is too bad to have such mean characters running at large.

Mr. Hans Jensen, lately from Denmark, has taken up the S.W. Q. 25-34, one-half mile south of the Crowhurst Poultry Farm, where he intends to build himself a home next summer, and will do some breaking this year. He was up here last week looking the place over, and finds that some persons have been helping themselves to his tamarac and other wood.

It is rumored that Messrs. Warren and Motter and Mrs. Love intend to go to the Peace River country in the spring about May to start a general store on a siding of the railway. As Mr. Warren says it is too expensive freighting the goods out into the country. Also they all intend to take up homesteads there.

Mrs. J. W. World, who has been away in the U.S.A. for some months, has lately arrived back to the Raven. She has taken up her abode on her farm, which she rented to W. B. Larrett.

Mr. Peterson and Mr. Hamilton, of Red Lodge, were visitors at the Crowhurst Poultry Farm this week, getting some fence posts and rails for their farms.

The Crowhurst Poultry Farm already has some orders for eggs for hatching, which speaks well for trade this coming season. Their stock is uncommonly good, being from the Edmonton Experimental Farm.
